CAUTION.—We beg leave to caution purcha-sers of our choice OLD MONONGAHELA WHISKIES against the deception and petty fraud which is practiced by certain parties in this city and in Baltimore, who have appropriated to themselves exact copies of the Star Brands, long used and designed by us to distinguish our Old Whiskeys.
We can assure our friends and customers, that the unrivalled quality, everywhere acknowledged, of our choice OLD WHISKIES, cannot be equalled by these ingenious invaders of our rights. Our new establishment, GIBSONTON MILLS, on the Monongahela River, gives us unequalled faciliies for making Whiskey of the choicest kind, from malted and kiln-dried grain. Purchasers of our Old Whiskies will please to otice, the words Gibsonion Mills and John Gibon, Sons & Co., are inserted in the new Brands which we now adopt; and we deem it a duty to our customers and ourselves, to give notice, that we will prosecute and expose any person or persons who may hereafter copy or use our Brands. BURKE & HERBERT. MISCELLANEOUS READING.

WRITTEN FOR THE GREENSBORO', N. C., GAZETTE. TO SARAH J. C. WHITTLESEY. BY MRS. M. D. WILLIAMS. Sister of the weary brow, Thou whose soul is lonely now,-Lost, yet sweet the minstrelsy, Of thy grief-toned lyre, to me Every tone it doth impart, Thrills some chord within my beart,

And the leaves of joy are severed. Sadness now pervades the hearth, Late the scene of joy and mirth; Shadows dim my lonely way,— Joy returns not with the day;-When the summer roses bloomed, When they faded drooped and died, Then another left my side.

Where the buds of hope are withered,

Sister, I am lonely now,-Sadness hovers o'er my brow,— And my heart with anguish riven, Pines to meet the loved in Heaven. Yet I do not wonder why, God hath chastened you or I. O! it is a proof of love, When from His blest fold we rove,

In the paths of death and sin,

Teaching us to follow Him. INTERESTING TO THE BEARDED. A writer in the Boston Post has the follow-ng pithy communication: I have seen it stated somewhere that there is an intimate connection between the perves and muscles of the face and eyes, and allowing the beard to grow strengthens the eye .-It is said that surgeons in the French army have proved by experiment in Africa that soldiers wearing the beard are much less liable to disease of the eye, and it it is generally conceded that it is a protection from discases of the throat and lungs. It is asserted that in countries where it is the custom to wear the beard, the eye retains its lustre and brilliancy much longer. It may be argued that females do not suffer more than males from disease of the eyes, &c., but it must be admitted they are much less exposed to the elements. What did the Creator give the lords of creation a beard for? Certainly not to support barbers. There is just as much sense in shaving the head as the chin. "Is the sense of smelling more pleasing than the sense of tasting?" was the subject up before a western debating society in a barroom. Uncle Joe was the last to speak upon the negative, and all were anxious to hear him deliver himself. Walking up to the barkeeper, he called for a hot whiskey punch, and drank it off with great gusto; then, turning to his opponents, he handed the empty glass to his leading disputant, and thundered out: "Now, smell it, you varment!" It is needless to add that Uncle Joe "brought down the house," and also the decision for the negative.

A neighbor of mine was, fairly or other wise, accused of stealing sheep, and the day was set when he was to answer the charge before a court of justice. But, as it happened, before the day of trial he sickened and died. Hisold mother was overwhelmed with grief, and sat long by the corpse, filling the house with wailing and lamentation. At last a thought seemed to strike her; she brightened up, and, throwing up her hands, she piously ejaculated, "Well, thank God, he's out of the sheep scrape anyhow.
